Reliable concept

Polidomes glamping tents are an innovative concept that include everything that enables comfortable use of the dome throughout the year. Each of its elements is an integral and inseparable part, important for the proper functioning of the whole.

Polidomes' years of experience in design, production and assembly of spherical buildings are behind the quality, precision of workmanship and the selection of technological solutions.

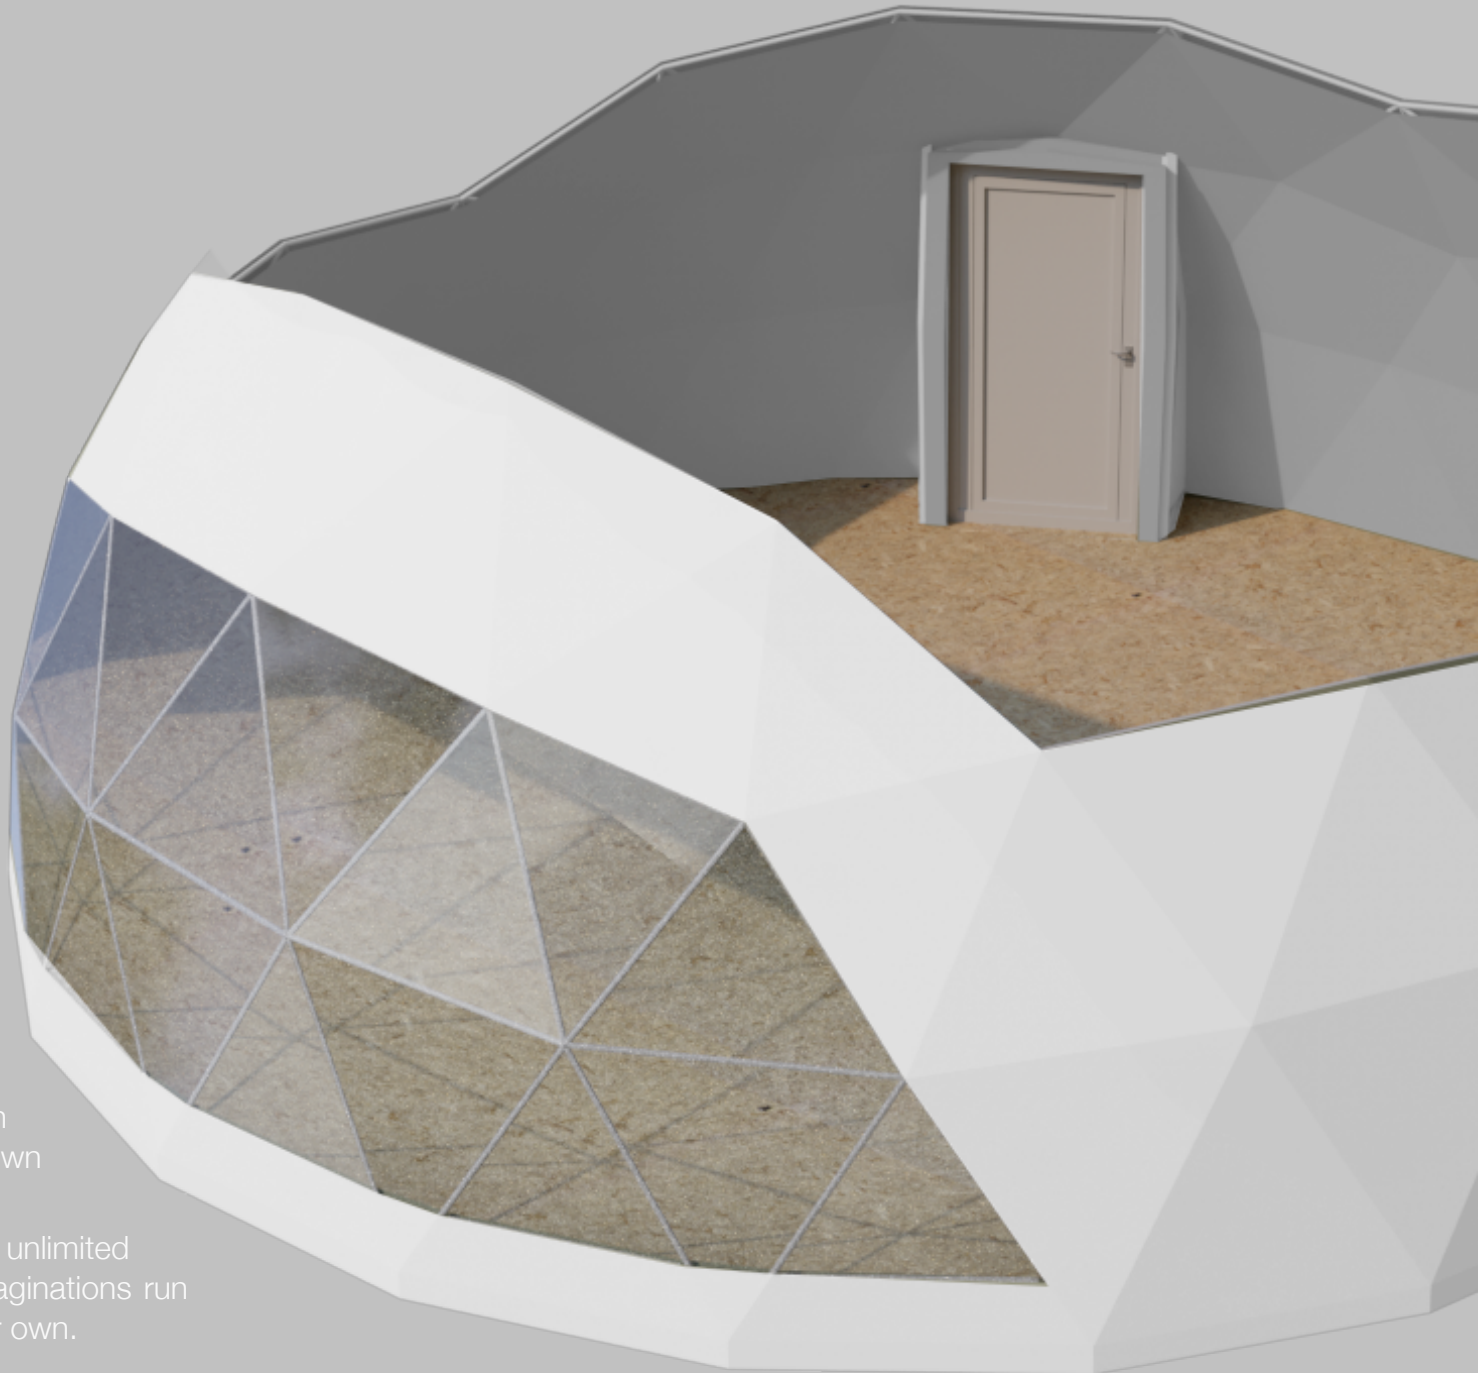

01

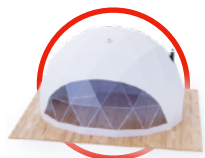

| Comfort

The Comfort Model provides the highest quality dome tent without any additional equipment. This type of option is dedicated primarily to people who have their own concept and idea in mind to create their own unique interior design.

The Comfort Model's empty interior provides unlimited possibilities for those who wish to let their imaginations run wild to arrange the interior of the dome on their own.

The Comfort Set includes

Structure and the cover

The outer sheathing of the dome is made of a 3-layer membrane that is impervious to light radiation. Possible construction colors are available in the "Your Configuration" section.

The tent has a steel structure that has been hot-dip galvanized and powder coated. The available colors of the plating can be found in the "Your Configuration" section.

The structure of the dome was designed and made in accordance with the static and strength calculations covered by the European standard EN 13782.

Insulation

The dome is filled with insulating panels, i.e. polyisocyanurate (PIR foam) modules made on the MFP board with a double aluminum screen that reflects thermal radiation. These modules are filled with acoustic foam and upholstered with finishing material. The insulation panels are separated from the outer shell by a unidirectional vapor-permeable membrane.

The transparent part of the tarpaulin is made of a double PVC layer with a ventilated air space inside.

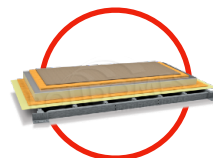

Insulation colors are available in the "Your Configuration" section.

Dobule skin

An additional layer of material increases the insulation properties in the place where the transparency is.

Thanks to the ventilation of the space between the transparent coatings, the phenomenon of water condensation is reduced to a minimum, which ensures perfect visibility in all conditions.

Insulated floor system

The dome is very well insulated from the ground, so the tent will be an ideal option not only in summer, but also in cooler seasons. It has a damp-proof foil that has been spread over a galvanized steel structure. The foil is covered with MFP boards, and these boards are equipped with high-quality PIR panels.

Doors with rainproof construction

The structure has a warm, single-leaf aluminum door that is filled with glass / PVC with a rainproof structure. Available door colors can be found in the "Your Configuration" section.

Heat pump with air conditioning

The dome is equipped with a 7 kW heat pump, which is adjusted to the size of the tent. The heat pump with air conditioning function can be remotely controlled via a smartphone, which improves the comfort of using the tent. Heat pump energy class: A +, operation range: down to -25 ° C.

Ventilation with recuperation

The dome tent is equipped with a high-quality recuperator with an anti-freeze electric heater. It is equipped with a humidity sensor and a duct system that distributes the air inside the tent. Thanks to ventilation, the process of condensation of water vapor in the tent has been reduced, which significantly increases the comfort of its use and provides fresh air. The efficiency of the device is adjusted to the size of the tent.

02
